All About Your Yearly Relationship Report

Robert Lee Camp's

BOOK OF DESTINY

This report will give you an in-depth look at some of your personal relationships over a period of time, usually one year, but sometimes longer depending upon what you requested. Each person in your life that you wanted to know about has his or her own section that tells how he or she will relate to you in the given time period. Thus, if you had asked to do three different people for a certain year, you will have a section for each person. In a similar manner, all the people for one particular year will be in the same major section. If you have more than one year, there will be chapters in this report based upon each of the years. The years go by your age. So, if you are currently 45 years old and had asked for two years of reports, there will be a chapter for Age 45 and one for Age 46, and within each of those chapters will be a section for each person on your list of Friends that you wanted your report for.

The Connections that exist between the Two of You

The method that we use to determine influences and compatibility between people uses what we call Connections. These connections usually have planetary names, such as Mercury, Venus, Mars, etc. But some have other names like Displacement, Result, or Environment. In all cases, the connection between you and someone else is derived from their relationship to you in the current year's cards. Every connection will be explained as they occur so you do not need to understand this system in order to benefit from this report.

These yearly influences between you and those you know are important. You can find that one year you are very compatible with someone and then it changes dramatically after your next birthday. Another common example is where someone is playing a prominent role in your life but then just sort of fades away as the year ends. Both these examples can be explained by the yearly relationship influences. It is definitely helpful to know what these influences are ahead of time. It is good, however, to keep in mind that you have life-long influences with everyone in your life, which are, in most respects, more important and more powerful than the yearly influences that come and go. This report intentionally does not touch upon these, but you should be aware of them nonetheless. If you would like to learn more about your life-long connections with others, you can read the book, Love Cards, or get a regular relationship report where you got this one.

Regular verses Underlying Card Connections

Often, your connections with someone will come from a connection found in your Underlying Cards. These can be many or few in number. Underlying Card connections are not quite as strong or powerful as the regular connections. As you read about the connections you have with each person on your list, keep this in mind. Having a regular connection with someone is a much greater influence and gives a much stronger probability that the two of you will have some important interactions in the given year. Underlying Card connections can be helpful if you want to see if someone will show up in the period or not.

We hope you enjoy this report. We think you will find it insightful, accurate, and helpful in your understanding of the influence of others in your life.

BOOK OF DESTINY

Your First Connection

Daniel is Your Displacement Card This Year

When we displace someone's card in a given year, we have an opportunity to see life through their eyes, to get a sense of what it is like to be them. This is what you are being given this year. You are getting a chance to visit Daniel's world and see what it is like to be him. His world may have some blessings in store for you and some challenges. Every Birth Card has a few of both. If you want to find out more about how this year might be for you, just read about Daniel's card in the Love Cards book. You will have some of the same influences that he has his entire life. At the same time, this influence says that you will have to pay more attention to Daniel and probably give more to him than usual. Exactly what you will need to give is not clear but if you adopt an attitude of just giving Daniel more of your time and attention, everything should go very well. Oftentimes, we displace someone to learn a valuable lesson for ourselves. Sometimes we meet someone new who is our Displacement Card for the year, just to learn something important about life that only they can teach us. This is a powerful connection and if you simply decide to pay more attention to Daniel and what he is all about, you are sure to benefit from the experience.

Key Phrases for this Connection

By paying attention to Daniel I am learning important lessons this year.
Daniel is a reminder to me of what I need to be aware of this year.
Giving to Daniel completes something important for me internally.

Your Second Connection

Daniel is an Environment Card to You This Year

Our yearly Environment Card is always perceived as a blessing of some sort. Anyone that we have a lot of involvement with who is also our Environment Card for the year will appear to us to be a source of many good things. Daniel is likely to be supportive in many ways to whatever you are doing this year, making this one of the best connections you can have in a yearly reading. The exact nature of how Daniel gives to you and supports you will be defined by your specific kind of relationship. All relationship types benefit from this influence, however. In business, Daniel could be a source of much financial gain and support. This can also occur in marriage. If Daniel is your spouse, this would be an indication of them making more money this year. In a friendship relationship the kind of support you receive from Daniel could be of many kinds. Its always good to express your gratitude for such people in your life. That gratitude causes the blessings to mulitply.

Key Phrases for this Connection

Daniel is a helpful and benefical influence in my life this year on many levels.
I am grateful for the help, support, and protection Daniel affords me this year.

Your Third Connection

Daniel is Moon to You This Year

This particular influence guarantees that Daniel will be a helpful and supportive influence for you this year. Though your lifetime connections with him may vary, this particular year will put Daniel in a more feminine role in relationship to you. What this means is that he will be more likely to take your lead in affairs concerning you both. He may also look to you for direction. Depending upon the nature of your relationship this could be an important factor. This Moon connection makes it very important that you know where you want to go this year. Otherwise Daniel may be confused by this connection. Overall, this connection guarantees good communication and you will notice that you feel better when Daniel is around. It will help your overall compatibility during this year. Hopefully, he will allow himself to be in this supportive role without resistance. This will usually be the case except in rare instances where Daniel would be such a leadership kind of person that he would find it difficult to follow someone else or be in a supportive role. Make the best of this connection by setting goals and plans for the year that Daniel can help you achieve.

Key Phrases for this Connection

I feel supported by Daniel this year in important ways.
Daniel is helping me progress towards my goals this year.
I am grateful for the support I feel from Daniel this year.

Your Fourth Connection

Daniel is Mercury to You This Year

For this particular year, you are likely to have great communications with Daniel. If you have been wanting to share more of yourself intellectually or personally with him, this would be the best time to do that. This connection can also mean that the two of you take several short trips together. But the main focus is just communication. Any endeavors that you might be sharing this year will be helped by this influence. But keep in mind that one or both of you have to take a step forward to take advantage of this. It will not just 'happen' to you if you do nothing. Take a step forward and you will see that Daniel will do the same. There is never a time like now to open up and share.

The other ramification of this connection is that it causes Karyn to be in a supportive role to Daniel. And Karyn will essentially need to be willing to follow Daniel for the duration of this year. Daniel will be the leader this year in some important ways and his or her direction can be very rewarding for Karyn.

Key Phrases for this Connection

Daniel and I have a great communication ability this year.

I allow Daniel to lead me into new positive directions and enjoy where it is leading me.

Daniel and I have much to discuss and these discussions can transform our relationship this year.

Your Fifth Connection

Daniel is Venus to You This Year

The fact that Daniel falls in a Venus position in relationship to you this year is a very good sign that the two of you will enjoy being together this year in whatever capacity you find yourselves in. This connection guarantees a certain amount of compatibility and ease of being together and would even help mitigate other connections between you that may be difficult.

Daniel may also play an important role during your Venus period. Check the other cards present at that time to determine just what that role may involve. Mostly it depends upon what kind of relationship the two of you have. If this is a romantic relationship, you could not ask for a better influence for love, marriage or romance. This connection would be considered to be a good omen for future development. If this is just friends, family or business you will discover that things go more smoothly between you and that you enjoy being with Daniel more than usual. Whatever activities the two of you may be involved in, things will tend to go more smoothly and you will enjoy the time spent together. In business, this connection also tends to cause more financial success in activities you are both involved in. No matter what the exact nature of your relationship with Daniel, you will find that things will go smoother between you and that you are more likely to have fun together.

Key Phrases for this Connection

I feel great harmony between Daniel and myself this year.
I am grateful for the compatibility I have with Daniel this year.
Daniel and I seem to have a lot in common this year.

Note: This connection comes from an Underlying Card and thus is not as strong as the ones that do not. However, this is still a possible indication that they will play a part in your life during this time frame

BOOK OF DESTINY

Your Seventh Connection

Daniel is Saturn to You This Year

Saturn is considered one of the more difficult placements in the cards. Usually someone who is Saturn to us will be a burden or source of limitation to us during that time. Therefore, it is highly likely that Daniel will be that sort of burden or limitation in your life this year, but especially during your Saturn period of the year. There are many possible ways this could manifest depending upon what sort of relationship you have with Daniel in the first place. Sometimes a Saturn person is someone who gets ill and becomes a burden for a time. In other instances a Saturn person will do something that causes us problems or aggravation, usually the result of something we did to them in the past. But Saturn people can also be our doctors or teachers. If you have actually chosen Daniel to be your teacher in some way this year, this connection would be considered very positive. Saturn people tend to be a hardship on us, or criticize us or both. This would not be a good connection for example if Daniel is your lover or spouse. This would mean that they would be a major problem for you this year, but again, especially during the Saturn period. Whatever the exact nature of your relationship with Daniel, study your cards in the Saturn period to learn more about what potential situation may develop between you. The good news is that generally this influence dissipates by the end of your Saturn period, leaving the rest of the year free for other more harmonious energies to develop between you.

Key Phrases for this Connection

Daniel can teach me some important things this year if I am open to learn.

Daniel seems to criticize me a lot this year.

Daniel is a burden or source of restriction to me this year.

Daniel can help me in important areas if I am willing to look at my own self-judgements and criticisms.

Note: This connection comes from an Underlying Card and thus is not as strong as the ones that do not. However, this is still a possible indication that they will play a part in your life during this time frame
